

Strategy Business Analyst (Data Driven) - Navoniq

WHO WE ARE: Navoniq is a boutique strategy advisory firm specializing in helping industrial companies accelerate growth, redeploy assets into new markets, and radically improve profitability. We are an expert-led firm with deep leadership experience in the defense, food/pharmaceutical biochemical, and chemical industries. Our team combines strategic insight with hands-on operational expertise to drive real, measurable impact for our clients. Although a boutique, Navoniq is aiming to compete to BBM.

THE ROLE: As a Data-Driven Strategy Business Analyst, you will play a critical role in shaping, creating, and leading strategic analysis independently. You will leverage data analytics and business intelligence to support high-impact decision-making for industrial clients, identifying new opportunities and optimizing existing business models.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES: The role is as part of a team of young academic who all strive for best in class:

- Analyze complex data sets to uncover insights that drive strategic decisions.
- Develop business cases for market expansion, asset redeployment, and performance optimization.
- Collaborate with industry experts to translate data into actionable strategies.
- Build data, financial and operational models to assess growth opportunities.
- Frame and present findings and recommendations in slide decks to clients and senior stakeholders.

REQUIREMENTS: The job requires an analytical mind-set and eagerness to investigate and translate hypothesis in proof of concepts. It will best fit with some one who has:

- Master's degree in a technical, engineering, or data-driven discipline.
- Strong analytical skills with experience data analytics, or financial modeling.
- Ability to work independently, take ownership, and work from concept to execution.
- Experience in python and processing , structuring organizing data sets.
- Excellent communication and stakeholder engagement skills.
- Short trips in Europe are part of the job, but mostly teams, or office, up to you.
- Native Dutch and fluent in English.

OUR OFFER: We will offer you a competitive compensation package with high flexibility in terms of time spend and location. Navoniq is a Boutique firm and is carefully listening to its colleagues and will custom your needs, also into our joint agreement. We underline the importance of a good work live balance.

If you are passionate about leveraging data to drive high-impact business transformations, we invite you to join our expert-driven team at Navoniq. Don't hesitate to contact Ruud Schmeink on +31(0) 6.515.08371 for information. Letter and resume can be sent to ruud.schmeink@navoniq.com.