

Junior Strategy Consultant - Navoniq

WHO WE ARE: Navoniq is a boutique strategy advisory firm specializing in helping industrial companies accelerate growth, redeploy assets into new markets, and radically improve profitability. We are an expert-led firm with deep leadership experience in the defense, food/pharmaceutical biochemical, and chemical industries. Our team combines strategic insight with hands-on operational expertise to drive real, measurable impact for our clients. Although a boutique, Navoniq is aiming to compete to BBM.

THE ROLE: As a Junior Strategy Consultant, you will play a critical role in driving strategic transformation projects. You will work closely with clients, give direction to a Data Science team, and be actively involved in business development opportunities. This is a third career opportunity, offering you freedom, responsibility, and a direct growth path towards Head of Consultant.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES: The role is as part of a team of young academic who all strive for best in class:

- Lead a Data Science team and translate complex data into actionable strategies.
- Join client visits and actively engage with partners to co-create solutions.
- Support in shaping business models, growth strategies, and market entry cases.
- Conduct strategic analyses and prepare impactful presentations for senior stakeholders.
- Take ownership of projects and deliver results with independence.

REQUIREMENTS: We are looking for someone with a strong academic and analytical background who is eager to take responsibility from day one:

- Master's degree in a technical, engineering, or data-driven discipline.
- Strong analytical skills with experience data analytics, or financial modeling.
- Ability to lead and guide teams, take ownership, and work from concept to execution.
- Excellent communication and stakeholder engagement skills.
- Native Dutch speaker and fluent in English, enabling you to operate naturally in international context.
- Willingness to travel occasionally in Europe (flexible balance between office, client-site, and remote).

OUR OFFER: We will offer you a competitive compensation package with high flexibility in terms of time spend and location. Navoniq is a Boutique firm and is carefully listening to its colleagues and will custom your needs, also into our joint agreement. We underline the importance of a good work live balance. If you are a teambuilder, able to manage groups effectively, and passionate about gaining invaluable experience in strategy consulting while enjoying the freedom to shape your own career, we invite you to join our expert-driven team at Navoniq.
